For the past 16 years, Cancer Services has honored those living with, through and beyond cancer with a Celebration of Life event on National Cancer Survivors Day. For our 17th annual celebration, Cancer Services embraced our Louisiana culture and hosted a Cajun fais do-do! Survivors participated in a New Orleans-style second line that concluded the event.

BECAUSE having a life IS MORE THAN LIVING

A CANCER SURVIVOR recently told us that when he was diagnosed, "I didn't just want to live, I wanted a life." After hearing the words "you have cancer," the first reaction is to focus on how to live. Here in Baton Rouge, we're blessed to be in a community with wonderful cancer treatment and medical facilities to help our families, friends and neighbors live. But having a meaningful life is more than living, and that's where Cancer Services steps in. Cancer Services of Greater Baton Rouge is here to fill in emotional, financial and educational gaps that arise for a cancer patient and their loved ones, from the moment of diagnosis through the rest of their lives.

Our mission is to improve life for those living with cancer. We've discovered that it means something unique to each one of our clients. For some, it's a life more supported or a life with less financial worry. For others, it's a life more independent, a life better informed or simply a life with a little more fun. Our mission is fulfilled differently for every person that walks through our doors seeking a life less consumed by their diagnosis.

More than 4,000 individuals in the Greater Baton Rouge area were affected by cancer in 2012. Cancer Services of Greater Baton Rouge was here for them, their family members and their caregivers. In this 2012 Annual Report we'd like to tell you our story, which is really their stories. The stories of how Cancer Services has been improving life this past year, and for the 53 previous years that we've had the privilege of serving the Greater Baton Rouge community.

A MISSION stronger WHEN SHARED

Albemarle and Cancer Services staff gather to lay the groundwork for corporate expansion of Cancer Services' Annual Giving Program. Albemarle Corporate Vice President of Global Sales and Cancer Services Board Member Tony Parnell, Cancer Services Executive Director Mimi Riché, Executive Director of the Albemarle Foundation Sandra Holub and Cancer Services Marketing and Development Director John Boudreaux.

OVER THE PAST four years, Cancer Services' Annual Giving has grown in size and, considering current economic realities, it has also grown in importance. We couldn't do what we do without the support of this community, and donors make the biggest impact through our Annual Giving Program. Cancer Services is excited to announce the new Mission Partner Annual Giving Level. Mission Partners are members of the medical and corporate community who support our mission through significant financial contribution, board leadership and in-kind assistance. We're excited and pleased to announce our first two Mission Partners: Albemarle Corporation and The Cancer Program of Our Lady of the Lake and Mary Bird Perkins.

Linda Lee, Administrator at Our Lady of the Lake - Mary Bird Perkins Cancer Center recognizes the importance of this partnership to the medical community: "Cancer Services of Greater Baton Rouge provides vital services for cancer patients and their families locally. These services are essential to ensuring that those fighting this disease have access to the resources they need. Day after day, Cancer Services is making a real and meaningful difference to countless individuals in our community." Sandra Holub, Executive Director of the Albemarle Foundation, agrees: "Albemarle is proud to lead the way and be a Corporate Mission Partner. Everyone is impacted by cancer in some way. We are so grateful to have an organization like Cancer Services that makes the word 'cancer' a bit less scary."

Mission Partners ensure that relevant and meaningful services are available to all cancer patients and their families regardless of where they seek medical treatment.

30 YEARS OF CAPITAL CHEFS' SHOWCASE

Cancer Services of Greater Baton Rouge presented its 30th Annual Capital Chefs' Showcase on Thursday, Sept. 6, 2012. This often-imitated event is the agency's premier fundraising effort to support those living with cancer in this community. Held at the Baton Rouge River Center, Showcase featured 30 of our area's top restaurants, chefs and caterers, giving attendees the unique opportunity to taste some of the best food in south Louisiana as well as enjoy a huge silent auction and a live band all under one roof! This year's event honored Mary Jane Howell, Mary Dell Gerald and the late Judy Garland, all instrumental in creating Capital Chefs' Showcase 30 years ago. Coach Paul Mainieri, his wife Karen, and Lt. Gov. Jay Dardenne and wife Cathy served as honorary chair couples. We offer our sincere thanks to all the chefs, sponsors, donors and attendees who supported Showcase and therefore the mission of Cancer Services!

SO MANY WAYS TO give

Cancer Services' Wig Boutique was remodeled this fall thanks to funding and labor from ExxonMobil and design work by Joel Fazende of Dixon Smith Interiors. Their skills and materials made the room a beautiful reality. Each year, Cancer Services provides over 200 wigs to women who have lost their hair because of their cancer treatment.

Celebrating their second anniversary, Tin Roof Brewing Company donated proceeds from a special Food Truck Friday event. Six food trucks gathered at the local brewery's location, and over 500 attendees contributed to our mission at this unique and fun event. Pictured are Tin Roof owners Charles Caldwell and Tom Daigneport, Cancer Services Executive Director Mimi Riché and owners John Peak and William McGehee.

Through Kyle Wilkinson, Jimmy John's Gourmet Sandwiches provides lunches for Cancer Services committee meetings and Open House events, saving us dollars better used in client services.

In support of our Children's Programs, the Southern University School of Social Work coordinated a schoolwide toy drive, and for his eighth birthday, Nicholas Migliacio asked his family and friends for donations instead of presents for himself. These toys were given out to families affected by cancer at our Children's Holiday Party.

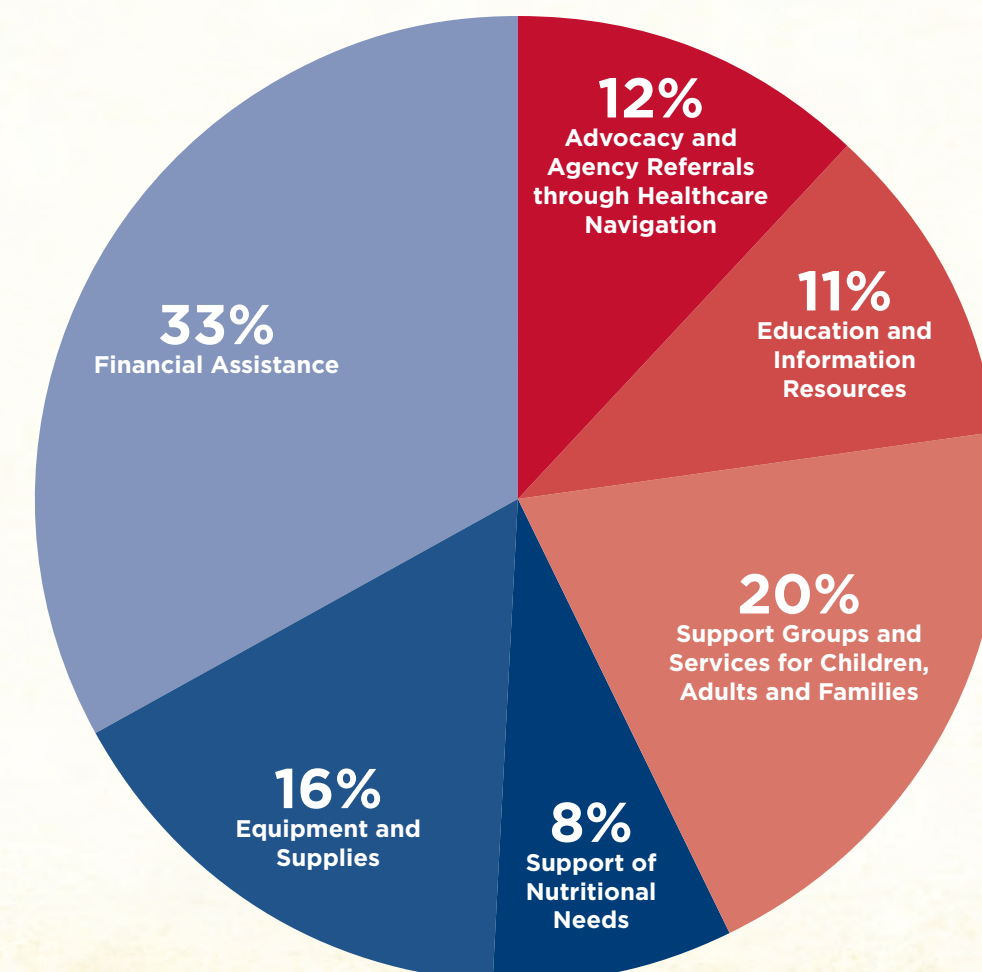

Cancer Services is also the thankful recipient of the community's time. Volunteers donated over 7,000 hours to Cancer Services in 2012. According to the Independent Sector, this saved the agency more than $150,000. From answering phones to distributing supplies to serving as camp counselors to fundraising and everything in-between, Cancer Services is truly blessed by our generous volunteers! Pictured: Volunteers and staff at our annual Volunteer Appreciation Party, held every November.

A LIFE more FIT ...

STAYING ACTIVE IS so important for the health and well-being of survivors in any stage of treatment. In partnership with BREC and The Red Shoes, our three exercise classes, Fit and Fearless, Yoga and Zumba Gold, meet multiple times a week. But as important as the physical benefits, these classes have become emotionally valuable for the participants.

Instructor Laura LeBlanc designed Fit and Fearless, our original aerobic exercise program, specifically for those living with, through and beyond cancer. The class celebrated five years in September 2012, and many of the charter members still attend every week.

"We think of ourselves as a gift to each other," says participant Gloria Graham, "We can talk about anything here." Carolyn Cavalier, another longtime Fit and Fearless devotee, agrees: "Besides great exercise, it's been a wonderful opportunity to share stories, offer support and draw strength from others."

Donna Hincks, a cancer survivor herself, teaches Zumba Gold once a week, giving attendees an opportunity to have a fun and unique workout. They dance to Latin songs wearing coin skirts that add jingle to every movement. For an hour every Thursday morning, they laugh and enjoy themselves, all while getting fitter and improving their life with every twist, shake and shimmy.

The Yoga class also has a strong and dedicated following. The routine of the class is gentler than others, and the survivors do not feel any pressure to perform any moves that make them feel uncomfortable.

One survivor even described the class as a family, saying, "When someone's missing we miss them." Each yoga class ends with "Namaste," which translates to "I bow to you." These survivors bow to each other, a movement full of meaning in their shared experience. Cancer Services bows to all our clients as we do all we can to improve life during their cancer journey. Like all our programs and services, exercise classes are free of charge for those living with cancer in the Greater Baton Rouge area. Call Cancer Services at (225) 927-2273 for more information or to register. A written doctor's permission is required to participate in the exercise classes.

If you can't make the classes, the Cancer Services Library/Resource Center loans DVDs of Fit and Fearless classes. These discs are also available for purchase at $15 each. Proceeds benefit Cancer Services.

Client Mike Graham stretches with the rest of the Fit and Fearless class after a workout. Men and women are welcome to enjoy the classes!

A LIFE more FUN ...

BECAUSE OF MEDICAL or financial limitations, many children living with cancer do not have the opportunity to attend a typical summer camp. Before Camp Care at Cancer Services, there was no local resource for children living with cancer to have a normal summer camp experience. In 2012, Cancer Services hosted the 18th Annual Camp Care for kids like Courtney Ross and her siblings.

When doctors discovered that Courtney (right) had leukemia at age 5, her and her family's lives dramatically changed. Before her diagnosis, her life was full of crayons, toys and simple joys. Now hospitals, needles, medicine and feeling sick overshadowed all of this. Courtney went to Memphis to receive treatment, but once she felt better, she was able to attend Camp Care right here in Baton Rouge with her siblings and new friends.

Under the careful eye of Camp Director Jana Poché, 20 volunteer counselors and oncology nurses to provide medical oversight, Courtney and 40 other children attended camp for a week in July. They enjoyed rock climbing, fishing, bowling, movies and art projects, but mostly, the children enjoy just being kids. Courtney testifies, "I love camp!"

Courtney Lamar, a longtime Camp Care counselor, will be taking over the Camp Director position in 2013 for Jana Poché. In 1994 Jana helped Cancer Services create the first Camp Care, providing these kids the opportunity to laugh, play and enjoy time outside of their world of cancer. Over the past 18 years, Jana's dedication and wonderful spirit has definitely made life more fun for the hundreds of children living with cancer and their families.

In addition to Camp Care, monetary grants, medical equipment and supplies, Cancer Services helps families affected by cancer experience as normal a life as possible through our monthly children's events. Families are able to surround themselves with supportive friends and spend time as a family outside of that world of childhood cancer. Things like riding go-karts at Celebration Station, witnessing the wonders of Disney on Ice and enjoying a day of fishing or horseback riding can seem small, but it can mean so much. These families are able to have a life, an almost-normal life, a life removed from the world of cancer.

A LIFE WITH more...

A LIFE more SUPPORTED ...

WHAT IS AN OSTOMY? For many of our clients living with digestive and urinary cancers, it's a word they know all too well. An ostomy is an opening of the intestine into the wall of the abdomen, required for some patients after the surgical removal or the healing of part of their colons, rectums or intestines.

Many are sent home after surgery with little long-term training or resources to help them adjust. This is where Cancer Services comes in to help support their new way of life. Thanks to a new partnership with Get Your Rear in Gear, our clients have access to Cindy Schneider, a Certified Wound, Ostomy and Continence Nurse. In addition to attending support group meetings, Cindy is available for phone consultations and home visits to coach patients on how to make their ostomies work with their lives, as well as offer emotional support. Cindy says, "The best advice I can give to ostomy patients is that you can still do everything you did before your ostomy. If something isn't working for you, I can help fix it."

Client and advocate David J. Smith.

David J. Smith can personally testify to the turmoil many ostomy patients encounter. Sent home from the hospital with only a short lesson on how his new bladder worked, David came to our Digestive System Cancers Support Group meeting with plenty of questions for Cindy and fellow cancer survivors. He not only got his questions answered but found more of what he desperately needed.

"I don't know what I would've done without Cancer Services. I don't have insurance to cover the expense of all the supplies I need, and without them, I'm not able to go to work or live my life normally."

The Digestive & Urinary Cancers Support Group at their Survivorship Luncheon in March.

From Cancer Services' ostomy closet, David was able to find the best fits for his lifestyle, which helped to ease the expense as well as the anxiety. But worth even more than the tangible items was the emotional support he received that he needed to get back to his life. "Cancer Services helped me see that things were not as bad as they seemed and that I did not have to face this alone. They know my name when I come by. Now I not only accept my ostomy, but also see it as proof of my inner strength."

The Digestive and Urinary Cancers Support Group meets the third Monday of each month at noon at Cancer Services. Call (225) 927-2273 to learn more about any of our 15 support groups or our ostomy support services.

A LIFE more SECURE ...

ON TOP OF ALL the health problems that come with a cancer diagnosis, many families struggle with serious financial worries as well. Cancer Services is here to help lessen that worry for our clients. Our Direct Assistance program is designed to help families cope with the high costs of a diagnosis through financial assistance, loan of medical equipment and distribution of nutritional supplement and medical supplies.

After being diagnosed with tonsil cancer, Gary "Lee" Bihms began to worry about how much it affected his family's finances. Not only did his treatments and medications cost substantial dollars, but he also had to take a year off work.

Thankfully, Cancer Services could help. He took advantage of our mileage reimbursement service to help cover the gas expense of going to oncology-related appointments, as well as our nutritional supplement service when Lee's treatment kept him from eating.

"It would've been really hard without Cancer Services. They really helped me with what I needed to get by."

Additionally, through our Healthcare Navigation program, we're able to refer hundreds of families like Lee's to other resources through our extensive network of financial and healthcare agencies and programs.

Lee's story is just one example of how Cancer Services helps fill in the gaps for those living with cancer. And through our Support Program, he's helping others fill in their own gaps. Now a few years out of treatment, Lee attends the Oral, Head and Neck Cancers Support Group, where he and other cancer "veterans" pass on advice to those just starting their journeys. He has even donated supplies to pay forward the support he received. For more information about Direct Assistance services, call (225) 927-2273.

Receiving nutritional supplement from Cancer Services can be a critical financial boost for some families.
